IMPRESSIONS OF TRAVEL.

. * I passed some weeks in Lynn, Mass. looking into the life of the laborers and listening o sundry jokes about Southern swindling, the best f which was that the Southerners had dealt better by the Lynn Shoe dealers than by their colored ulation, inasmuch as they defrauded the Slaves their immortal souls, while they only defrauded of their immortal souls, while they only defrauded the Shoe manufacturers of their leather soles. But this is talk. The African is after all progressing, by Slavery and amalgamation, to civilization. Reparant industry defrauds man of his soul even as Slavery. Witness the Mines of England, its agricultural districts, its manufactures. Look into Colman's Reports, and see what testimony he brings concerning the degradation of England and yet England has no Slaves. Let no one suppose that I am the apologist of Slavery. God forbid! But is not the man who hires his fellow man and defrauds him of his hile, as guilty as he who beys his brother and does the same? No country offers so many natural advantages to the new settler, as the portion of Illinois known by the name of the "Military Bounty Lands." This tract is situated between the Mississippi and Illinois Rivers, and contains about three million acres of as good land as any other tract of the same size in the valley of the Mississippi. Its natural advantages are unequalled any where in the West .-No part of the tract is more than thirty miles from navigation, and by far the greater part not more than titteen miles. It lies between 39° and 41° degrees North.

The climate is mild and pleasant; Winter sets in about the middle of December; there is never more than three or four inches of snow on the ground at once, and that seldom lies more than a week. It is not uncommon to see the farmers plowing their ground in the month of January. The weather is quite changeable from the time that Winter sets in until Spring opens, which is generally the latter part of February. In two or three weeks after Spring sets in, the ways are settled and vegetation puts forth her tender foliage, which tells us that Summer is near. The Summers are never so warm as in the Eastern States, nor are we trot as in the Eastern States, not are we thought of the chilly winds which sweep over New England from the middle of March to the middle of May. The weather is more soft and refreshing, and yet never so sultry and oppressive as it is at times at abundance of prairie grass, which if cut the last of Jane or the beginning of July, makes good hay, and will carry stock through the winter in good condition. Nuts of various kinds abound—such as hazel, black and white walnuts, hickory nuts and Take heed it has not been transformed during your slumber, and the sleep of generations, into the nature of beasts."

From Lynis I went to Bosron. It is true that whatever we seek we find; and as I have in my travels of late, sought earnestly for information respecting the progress of Associational principles, and the efforts to reduce these principles to practice. I shall of course have that kind of knowledge to communicate which I have obtained. Indeed, to me, all other subjects dwindle into comparative insignificance beside this one great subject. At Boston I found the friends of The Cause full of life and interest. They gave the best civilized evidence of Life, which was by giving money to aid an aposite in propagating the principles of Fourier. When a Yankee gives money, he is convinced and in earnest; not till then, however much he may advise, or lavish kind wishes or hospitality.

From Boston I went with some friends and inquirers to visit Brook Farm, where it is well known there is a the angle of the subjects of the continuous continuous and the location is such that as soon as the lilineis canal is completed, which I think will be in a few years, we can have the advantages of a Northern or Southern market, where stock and all kinds of produce can be disposed of at a fair price. Wild game is abundant, such as deep wild turkies, prartic chickens, quals, pheasants, tabitis, raccoons, &c. which a good sportsman may kill to his heart's eligibit. The natural resources of this country, including that portion of the valley of the Mississippi North of 40 degrees, with proper cultivation. I liventure to predict that within less than twenty years, that pertion of the valley of the Mississippi North of 40 degrees, will be in a condition. visit Brook Farm, where it is well known ion to export millions of pounds of wool, for which a attempt at Association. Little has been re toward actualizing the idea of Association to export millions of pounds of wool, for which that country is well adapted. Great Britain, in 1830, had forty million of sheep, and the portion of the country above mentioned has a surface which combers it brook farm who have the surface and the country above mentioned has a surface which combers it is well known. on, and yet much has been done. much better, whare willing to live for it. The psychological force of Brook Farm is great. They are studying, they are daily learning more of the Science of Association, and not only their heads but their hands are active. They are now in the earast working day of a band of pioneers, determined to cut their way through the wilderness to Association. When the Idea of the existence of a new Continent had fully taken possession of the mind of Columbus, much was really done toward its discovery, though little was actually accomplished. So t is with Brook Farm. Men and women of sterling worth have chosen their lot here to create Life confitions, not Death conditions, as we find every where in civilization. They are determined to build a model Association, thinking that, as one model steamboat was enough to convince men and led steamboat was enough to converted Appetite build a model Association, finaking that, as one model describes a consistent with a second to convince men and to ever our waters with steam vessels, so will it be with Associations.

FOR THE PILES.

FOR THE PILES.—Are you afflicted with Piles?

Try, then, without delay, Doctor Upham's Vegetable Electuary, the best remedy ever offered to public notice. This really excellent medicine is the result of a thorough medical education and a complete knowledge of the disease for which it is recommended. The most triumphant success attends its administration.

Read the following remarkable cases:

A lady, residing in Norfolk street, was seriously afflicted with Piles; so great was her suffering that, to use her own expression, life was a burden; for four weeks she had been attended by one of our most eminent Physicians, without the least benefit. Satisfied that it was an aggravated case of Piles, I prescribed the Electuary; two boxes were used. Six months after, the same lady called on me to prescribe for another complaint, and then informed me that she was perfectly cared of the Piles by the two boxes, and had experienced no return since.
